My main types of text are: fiction, historical and scientific in area of math and computational. In area of story I read text as: The girl what steal books, The crime of Amaro priest. In area de fiction I read text as: The chronicles of ice and of fire, The giver of memories, Silent city and The chronicles of cities floating. The history of Silent city is one of my favorites. In resume, tell the history than in the dream word when people fall asleep, the nightmares are real and kill. The second history favorite is The Chronicles of cities floating, in resume this history is in a world where the nature is lethal, hurricanes, thunderstorms, lava of a volcano are beings known as Giants that destroy everything in the way. The stories of Sherlock Holmes are good I read almost all of them.
